

Listening Session at DD Council Meeting
Office for Citizens with Developmental Disabilities
July 21, 2016

When you think about the outcomes you want from the service system, consider these questions regarding person centered planning and coordination of supports and services:

- What should planning be like?
- How would you like your support coordinator to help you with planning? What would you like to be different in how they help you?
- Do you feel like your plan and supports are really what you asked for and the assistance you need? How can we better support you to truly guide your plan and supports?
- Do you feel like you have access to the supports in your plan after planning? How can we better help you access supports after planning?
- Do you have any other suggestions to improve planning?
