Transition to Adulthood Input Survey

October 31, 2024

The Louisiana Developmental Disabilities Council has partnered with Team Dynamics to support an important project focused on Innovative Pathways to Empowerment for the Transition to Adulthood. Team Dynamics has created a volunteer survey to collect information and input from individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD), their family members, and caregivers. The feedback received will be used to help them identify the skills, knowledge, and resources that can best empower individuals with IDD to navigate adult life successfully.

Workshops will be developed and offered in five locations across the state in the coming months. The number of responses from different areas of the state will determine which topics and locations will be selected. Share your thoughts and experiences to make a difference!
